ELK POINT COMMUNITY CHOIR — Performs their annual Christmas concert under the direction of Don Buryn, with Deanna Easthope at the piano.

Light up, Elk Point — contest goes Dec. 19

Elk Point Chamber of Commerce will once again be sponsoring their annual Christmas Lighting and Decorating Contest, with judging set for Tuesday, December 19.

Residents are urged to make sure their homes, apartments and mobile or modular homes are lighted up that evening, when the judges are on tour to make their difficult decisions. Institutions will also be judged that evening, while businesses will be judged earlier that day. Businesses will be judged primarily on interior decor, although well dressed windows will also be taken into consideration.

Prizes of $25, $15 and $10 will be offered in each category.

Late shopping hours for the holiday season were discussed, but no consensus was reached. Watch for further details on this.

The December 1 Christmas Extravaganza was declared a success by most businesses, several of which reported a decided increase in business over last year. The activities were also felt to have gone well, in spite of some last minute glitches. Chamber President Vic Stepa commended the Merchants Committee on a very successful event.

Elk Point Community Choir sings in the season

The beautiful music of the Christmas season was the supremely enjoyable gift given to huge and enthusiastic audiences last week, as Elk Point Community Choir presented their annual Christmas concert on Wednesday and Friday evenings.

The 63-member choir started off the evening with four numbers, "Good News on Christmas Day," "March of the Christmas Children," featuring Gabe Bayduza on Synthesizer, "Only a Baby Came," and "Lullaby of the Dove," with flutist Laurie Keichinger.

Choir members Udo Mueller and Lesley Rebryna were joined by Mrs. Rebryna's young son Shane in a trio presentation of "Lately We Watched," with Mueller providing the piano accompaniment.

Laurie Keichinger performed a beautiful vocal solo, "Love Came Down."

A total change of pace came from Gabe Bayduza and Doreen Youngmans, who played an "Accordion Christmas Medley" of old favorites, from "Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer" to "Here Comes Santa Claus."

Then the choir was back. Mathilda Furger was soloist and Linda Peters the piano accompanist for "Jesus Born on This Day," while Barb Buryn tickled the ivories for "Old Toy Trains." The traditional music of Johann Sebastian Bach was enhanced with words by Jay Althouse for "Still A Bach Christmas." The set wound up with a jazzy version of a traditional carol, "Jazzy Old St. Nicholas," with Udo Mueller adding the percussion.

Following a brief intermission, a fine quartet consisting of Chris Johnson, Garry Townsend, Don Conrad and Udo Mueller performed "Gloria," accompanied by Randall Kryz on piano.

A breathtaking solo, "O Holy Night," came from soprano Jill Hartley, accompanied by Gabe Bayduza on piano. The trio of Linda Peters, Emily Mueller and Lori-Ann Mantyak were accompanied by Udo Mueller in "Canon of Praise."

The choir completed the evening with four more numbers, starting off with a lively Russian flavor in "Dance!

Dance! Dance!" and changing to the smooth and gentle Irving Berlin favorite, "White Christmas," with four-hand piano accompaniment, Linda Peters joining Deanna Easthope at the keyboard. Percussionist Udo Mueller and soloist Jill Hartley added a special note to "Christmas In Killarney." The entire audience rose to their feet for the finale, as is the tradition whenever Handel's very famous "Halleluja Chorus" is played. They remained standing to give the choir a long and well deserved ovation.

In closing, Choir director Don Buryn invited the audience to join in the ever popular "Silent Night."

Members of the choir are: Norma Berg, Iryne Buck, Cheryl Kurash, Erica Spoeth, Doreen Youngmans, Jeannine Lebreque, Lesley Rebryna, Lena Stepa, Shirley Ockerman, Michele Duczek, Myrna Fedorus, Lillian Ewasiuk, Louise Kurash, Edith Mitchell, Mabel Gottenbos, Sheri Johnson, Doreen Rath, Margaret Modin, Debbie

Mathilda Furger, Shirley Krekoski, Laurie Keichinger, Emily Mueller, Ellen Seward, Sharon Winterbottom, Linda Peters, Chris Johnson, Norm Hartley, Rex Cunningham, Ken Vickery, George Sanders, Charlie Thomson, Don Conrad, Jerome Keichinger, Udo Mueller, Harry Peters, Vania Sanregret, Michelle Hillebrand and Amanda Sanregret. Page turner is Patricia Keichinger.

DUELING ACCORDIONS? Doreen Youngmans and Gabe Bayduza provided a lively rendition of old Christmas favorites.

Letter to the Editor

400-hour ECS is necessary

An open letter to the community:

Two years ago, despite widespread protest, the Klein Government cut ECS (kindergarten) funding from 400 hours to 200 hours. School Boards throughout Alberta decided, against the recommendations of the provincial Government, to continue to provide this important program at the original 400 hours. They did this because they all understood the value of the program and even though they had to find the funds from other operating dollars. They also did this because many voters expressed their concern to local school board members to continue ECS programs at the 400-hour level.

One year ago, the Provincial Government increased support for ECS to 230 hours. However, it was these same local politicians who once again made a commitment to the importance of 400 hour ECS and found the necessary funds to supply the shortfall.

Once again, we are at a budget decision time for the Provincial Government. In two months, local School Divisions will be finalizing their own budgets. And once again, there is a crisis in our education system, a crisis for our children, and it seems that no one knows what is at stake. We say this because of the small response the Provincial Government has had with regard to ECS.

Health Reform

Innovations in continuing care

By Hon. Shirley McClellan
Minister of Health

One of the main objectives of health reform is to shift more services away from institutions and into the community. This change in philosophy is driven not just by fiscal realities, but by consumer preference. Nowhere is this more evident than in the continuing care sector.

Traditionally, seniors and persons with disabilities have turned to long-term institutional care when they became too elderly or frail to look after themselves, this despite the fact that many would have preferred to live independently in the community. One survey by the Long Term Care Association confirms that Albertans want to remain in their homes as long as possible. Seniors are saying, "I'd rather be at home, but if I can't, I want more choice."

Innovative services are being piloted around the province as part of the New Horizons New Models in Continuing Care Demonstration Project, a partnership involving the Seniors Advisory Council for Alberta, the Canadian Association of Gerontology, the provincial and federal government and the Capital Care Group of Edmonton. Its goal is to design, implement and evaluate innovative continuing care services.

In August, the government announced six new continuing care projects, which will be demonstrated on 25 sites in Alberta. These projects will be evaluated by the University of Alberta and used to develop and expand services throughout the province. They include adult family living, which gives seniors the option of moving into a private home. Companion care providers look after personal care, and home care delivers professional services such as nursing or physical therapy. Assisted living designs individualized service plans for each client. Instead of a "one size fits all" approach, the project provides whatever level of assistance is required based on a personal assessment, while respecting the client's right to privacy, dignity, choice and independence.

We must not forget the caregiver. The stresses and strains placed on caregivers can result in patients seeking institutional options before they need to. To alleviate the pressures, projects such as day programs or respite care provide short term relief from the rigours of caring for a loved one.

The trends in continuing care are to maximize privacy and independence and to provide options that are more residential in nature. More choice, more autonomy. Alberta Health will continue to work with the regional health authorities, advocacy groups for seniors and persons with disabilities, health service providers, academics and other levels of government provide continuing care services that address the social, intellectual, and spiritual, as well as medical and physical needs of continuing-care clients.

Continuing Care will evolve over time as concepts are tried and tested, and as new needs and ways of meeting those needs emerge. My department is listening and responding to consumer needs and preferences. Together we will build a more responsive and sustainable health system for our future.

To find out about continuing care options in your area, call your regional health authority.

This is the second in a series of columns by Alberta's Health Minister on health restructuring. Readers may write to the Minister at the following address:

FCSS News

Let's talk about Christmas!

Stress and fatigue at Christmas time are as common as mistletoe and mince pies.

* Take a critical look at the way you're preparing for the festive season. Perhaps you're trying to do too much or trying to do everything letter-perfect. These impossible objectives can only lead to failure and frustration, which, in turn, cause stress. Set more realistic goals. The world won't come to an end and your family will enjoy Christmas just as much.

* Instead of worrying and fretting about the 100 things you have to do, control the situation: list the projects in order of priority and tackle them one at a time.

* Don't work yourself into a frazzle. Take a break for a few hours or even for 30 minutes. Go somewhere where it is peaceful. Sit in your room listening to your favorite music, take a walk in the snow in a nearby park or sit in the hushed silence of a church. You'll be surprised how much better you'll feel.

* If preparing for Christmas is proving to be too much of a hassle, don't suffer in silence. Share your problems with your partner and kids, and maybe a close friend. Letting off steam reduces tension and involving the whole family in holiday preparation can make it more meaningful and enjoyable for all.

Acquire skills in one or more techniques to control and reduce stress. Learning stress control serves you well not only during the holiday season but also all year round. Happy holiday!

What's news at the library?

December is the busiest month of the year!

By Michele Duczek

Librarian

When I was a kid, the month of December was the longest month of the year. It seemed about a year from the beginning of the month until Christmas. Now that I'm all grown up, December seems to be the shortest month. Sometimes I wish it was a year between the beginning of the month and Christmas so I could get everything done. I did manage to put a few new books on the shelf.

As a young boy Elie Wiesel survived the Nazi death camps. He grew up to become an award winning writer. In 1986 he was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize. All the Rivers Run to the Sea is the story of his life, from a loving family in the Carpathian mountains through the horrors of Nazidom's Final Solution, to the birth of Israel and beyond.

Magic eye fans are in for a treat with Henry's Gift by David Worsick and Joyce Harris. It is a story and magic eye book in one with the magic eye images complementing the story of a young boy with the ability to see different images in everyday things.

Some new titles in the juvenile series:

Strange and frightening things happen after a young man is killed and his friends hold a seance to contact him in The Visitor by Christopher Pike.

Joe and Frank find themselves in the middle of a corporate dispute involving motorcycles and plenty of danger in Wild Wheels from the Hardy Boys.

The boys receive a mysterious map from their father that leads them into the jungles of Borneo and into a race against time to save their father from a deadly disease in Law of the Jungle, also from the Hardy Boys.

The girls try to find a loving home for an unwanted horse but fear she'll end up somewhere terrible in Stable Farewell from the Saddle Club.

The twins and their classmates are stranded on an isolated island with a group of hijackers who are out to kill in Escape From Terror Island from Sweet Valley Twins.

They're waiting to hear from the public but they're not hearing enough!

It is time for the Provincial Government to recognize what parents, local politicians and professionals have known all along — that 400 hour ECS is worth every penny spent on it. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

One of the options for providing ECS is through user fees. But user fees defeat the purpose of ECS. Children in some families will be better prepared for Grade One than children of other families. ECS is designed to ensure that every child is ready for Grade One. Charging a user fee to parents of children in ECS will only benefit those parents who can afford the fees (which could be as much as $650), and will penalize children of parents who cannot afford this sort of expense. And it is those children who benefit from ECS the most! In fact, the whole community benefits to the extent that all children can achieve personal, social and academic success.

The provincial government is responsive to public input. Just look at what has happened in Health care lately. Public focus on a particular issue in Calgary changed the Government's course. Let's do the same. Even if you have never written a letter or made a phone call to express an opinion about a concern in your community, our children need your voice. They cannot speak for themselves. This is the season for giving. Give these children, "the gift of a lifetime". Your voice can ensure that all Alberta children get the chance they deserve to succeed. Please phone Bridget Montgomery at 724-2432 to find out you can add your voice to this campaign.

QUESTION?? - WHY are there thousands of Iron Filters and water softeners sitting in people's homes all across Alberta - NOT WORKING PROPERLY?

ANSWER!! - BECAUSE the principle behind which these systems operate is not a sound principle, THAT'S WHY! Iron Filters and Water Softeners plug up with iron quickly because iron is just about as stubborn to remove from the inside of an iron filter or water softener as it is to remove from a sink, a bathtub or toilet bowl!

SOLUTION!! - IRONEATER - Ironeater is a patented device manufactured by BIG IRON DRILLING LTD. that works like a sandblaster in Iron Filters and Water Softeners - keeping mineral beds clean and operational.

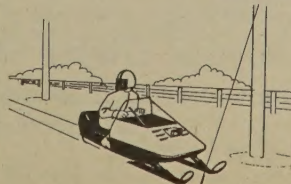

NO DOWN PAYMENT - 2 to 4 year time payment plan (O.A.C.)

Two big wins for Thunder

Elk Point Midget Thunder improved their record this weekend to 12 wins, 3 losses and 2 ties, defeating the teams from the east.

Friday night a small crowd braved the -35 temperature to watch the Elk Point Thunder take on the Turtleford Tigers in close contest that ended with the Thunder coming out on top 2-1. After two periods of close checking and excellent goal-tending at both ends, the score was still 0-0. The teams retired to the dressing rooms and the coaches went for a strategy meeting wondering what they had to do to score. In the first minute of the third period the Thunder took a penalty and it didn't take the Tigers long on the power play to get on the scoreboard. Heavy pressure by the Thunder forced the Tigers to take a penalty and now it was Elk Point's turn to even the score with big left winger Loren Kozicky's power-play goal. Then at 5:56 of the 3rd period with the game tied, rugged right winger Jordan Bassett scored the winning goal when he was set up in front with a beautiful cross-ice pass by James Babenek. Soon Thunder found themselves in the penalty box again and killed the last 4 minutes short-handed, the last 30 seconds 2 men short, but veteran goaltender Geoff Mehedyn was outstanding between the pipes and held on for a win.

Sunday afternoon the Thunder climbed into the bus and headed east to Lashburn, SK to do battle in what turned out to be a onesided event. Early in the first period rookie Jordan Bassett opened up the scoreboard with his first of two for the night. Ferlin Quinney and Clayton Cardinal also scored two each, with work-horse Marty Bendixen, who leads the team in the plus-minus department, getting a hat trick. The final tally was 13-3 in favor of the Thunder.

Next Friday the Thunder travels to Camrose for the weekend and will be playing in a Midget AA tournament that will be a good test for the boys.

F. G. Miller Book Fair a success

By Kelly Oszust
FGM Student Journalist

On Saturday, November 25, F. G. Miller High School ended the week long Book Fair with impressive results. The sale came to the grand total of $1278.20. A special thanks goes to 2M Resources for purchasing $271.95 worth of books for the library, and upping the total to $1550.15

The yearbook staff helped to run the fair all day and in return received $362.19 to put toward the 1995-96 yearbook. A warm thanks to Barb Croteau of In Days of Olde for her donation of books to the fair, and for the following people who helped out with the fair: Krista Seward and Jamie Tetz for helping to put the books out, the students who moved the tables full of books to the gym, Melonie Holloway for helping with the display case, Crystal Kulczycki for helping with all aspects of the fair, Elaine Ziomec and Donna Gulayec for helping to put the books away, and especially to all those parents, grandparents, students and children who supported the school on Saturday and made our book fair a success.

Student journalist visits MacEwan College

By Fiona Daniels

Heinsburg Student Journalist

On Friday, December 1, I was fortunate enough to spend the day at Grant MacEwan College in Edmonton to observe the Native Communications program.

I was able to arrange for this "Student for a Day" experience by calling Jane Woodward, who is head of admissions for this program. Jane arranged a time for me to meet her at her office and found a student in the Native Communications Program who would show me around and tell me about the classes.

Since December 1 was International AIDS Awareness Day the journalism class that I was supposed to sit in on was cancelled for a workshop about AIDS. After the workshop was over, I was able to talk with some students who all agreed that the Native Communications Program is a good step in becoming a journalist. It was then that I met Mona, my guide for the day. Mona showed me the campus and took me to the last class of the day, which was a photography lab.

I really enjoyed this experience and would recommend it to anybody who is planning to go to a post secondary institution but is not sure what to expect in the program of their choice. It gives you the opportunity of getting to know the campus and meeting other students. To find out more about how you could be student for the day, check your university or college course calendar.
